Interesting Rotary Meeting Monday

G. W. SWINNEY

The regular monthly meeting of the Rotary Club was held Monday evening in the 2nd Ward Chapel with 18 members present. The Primary officers had their usual tasty supper prepared and the Rotes did full justice to the menu. Pres. Dr. Hall was in charge of the meeting.

After community singing, the following program was carried out:

Will Stone reported the progress of the Opera, and the Club discussed whether or not to sponsor it for one night to raise funds for community work. It was left with the executive to act on the matter after further investigation.

Joe McLean reported on the Minstrel show which had been suggested, and stated that the program was outlined pretty much in detail, and all that was needed was the decision of time and place and assignment of parts.

Frank R. Taylor gave the Membership charge to Dr. J. S. Madill and after the latter's assenting to the ideals of Rotary he was accepted as a member.

Tommy Roberts rendered a vocal solo. Lee Brewerton gave the three minute talk on Rotary Education speaking of "Rotary Accomplishments."

Lambert Pack was the speaker of the evening taking "Fishing" as his topic and speaking particularly of "Dry Fly Fishing". He made a 'dry' subject decidedly interesting to the Rotarians, most of whom at some time or other have either been successful fishermen or successful story tellers.

It was 9:30 before the meeting adjourned.

Paul Schneider reported five antelope near his farm last week and a flock of pheasants right in his door yard. Hunger is causing the animals to take great risks trying to forage something to eat.

The wind attained the velocity of a gale Wednesday at noon and blew the power line down near the C.P.R. tracks. It was two o'clock before the damage was repaired and the power put back on again.

The School Board held a three hour session in the Constable's Office at the Town Hall Monday night last. Questions pertaining to the welfare of the schools occupied their time. Trustees Holmes and Stevenson reported the recent Convention.

Livestock Prices Show Steady Improvement

With beef prices on the up grade, prospects for the baby beef feeders of the district are looking up. Prices have been in such a slump that only the top feeders were able to show any profit at all on their winter's feeding, and some of them even lost money. Now, it looks as though they may get a break on this year's marketings.

Not very much selling has been done as yet, but last week Wilford Heninger sold 21 steers from his herds, which paid him 7 cents per pound at the local scales. This is the highest price paid locally for some time. These cattle made up part of a shipment that was sent to St. Paul. Following is the Lethbridge Herald's comment in part:

Cattle prices are on the up-

Vein Henry was busy re-decorating the Maple Leaf Bakery Wednesday last.

An armed bandit escaped with $175 from the cash box of a west end grocery in Edmonton Saturday night.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stone in St. Michael's Hospital Thursday, Feb. 12, a baby boy. "Ken" is quite proud as this is the first boy in the family.

Bodies of 658 celebrants of the Chinese New Year's celebration were removed from the theatre at Antung, Manchukuo, when the building was destroyed by fire Saturday night. Authorities believe the death toll will reach at least 700.

The Ralph Transport made a return trip to Lethbridge Tuesday, getting home at about 9:30 p.m. George says never again until the roads get "good", not merely passable.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Heninger are the proud parents of a baby boy, born in the Lethbridge Hospital, Sunday, Feb. 14th, a Valentine indeed. Wilford is just about as proud over being Grand dad as the father of the baby, who Raymondites say is going about Lethbridge patting himself on the back and saying "I have a son and heir."

Council Organizes 1937 Committees

With all Councilmen present and Mayor S. I. May in the Chair, the Council met in its Statutory meeting Monday evening, and the successful candidates in the recent elections were sworn in by O. H. Snow as Justice of the Peace. These men were the Mayor, Councillor King, Jensen and McPhee.

Committees for the coming year were organized as follows:

Finance Committee: I. B. Roberts, Chairman; M. T. King, D. A. Bennett.

Works and Property Committee: G. E. Court, Chairman; Lloyd McPhee, I. B. Roberts.

Water and Light Committee: Wm. Jensen, Chairman; G. E. Court, Lloyd McPhee.

License and Police Committee: D. A. Bennett, Chairman; M. T. King, Wm. Jensen.

Health and Relief Committee: Lloyd McPhee, Chairman; Wm. Jensen, I. B. Roberts.

Deputy Mayor for six months: Melvin T. King.

Following this and a discussion of the handling of relief and some move to reduce or abolish the need for relief, the Council adjourned to reconvene at once in the regular business session.

Some people were present asking for relief, and as there were a number of other relief cases to be dealt with they were all taken up at once, and amounts decided for each case on its merits. Several pensions to the aged had been granted and letters were received about other cases where there had been lack of detail in the information sent in.

The collection of taxes and licenses was discussed, and the Council felt that a very definite and determined stand would have to be adopted in respect to the collection of current taxes and license, as well as water rates each month, and that checking of these items would have to be commenced at once.

In connection with the proposed dam to be constructed Council felt that this should be built with labor credited on tax arrears, and that any who were given the opportunity to work out tax arrears and failed to do so, should have seizures placed against their properties and the taxes recovered that way. Lenience, has been practiced to fault and the Council felt it would have to be stopped in the future.

The condition of payments of several pieces of Town property was discussed and the Secretary asked to check up at once on these things, and members of the Council in a couple of cases were asked to visit purchaser.

News Notes

Mutt Ralph has been ill for a week with flu. George and Perce Poulsen took the Transport to Lethbridge on Tuesday the first trip for a week.

Despite the fact that snow was melting for five or six hours Tuesday, thermometers hanging away from the sun showed a couple of degrees of frost right after noon.

The House of Commons has voted $700,000 to the establishment of the Dominion Air Mail Service. The Postmaster General is not certain whether the service will start this year or not.

The Annual meeting of the Sugar City Municipality is being held Saturday at the Town Hall. The Financial Statement will be presented at this meeting.

Activity in oil circles has been increasing in Alberta during the past few weeks especially since the B. and B. well blew in with such good production.

Nine passenger coaches and 2 engines were on the passenger train from Calgary to Lethbridge Monday night last. Passenger business on the railway has been good for the past two months while roads have been drifted under.

Shovel gangs were out on the Welling road Monday breaking through a few places where the grader and Caterpillar couldn't move the drifts. It is quite essential as a matter of safety to the public health that these highways be kept open if at all possible.

R. J. Hutchings, pioneer business man of Calgary and President of the Calgary Saddlery Co. died last week in Calgary. J. G. Hutchings of Lethbridge is a son. The late Mr. Hutchings was known to pioneers of Alberta, especially in the days of saddles and harness when good leather meant so much.

A REMINDER

The community expects its public institutions to be defended, to be favorably reported, to be kept in good repute throughout the district and the province. Churches, societies and organizations look for, and expect their activities to be reported in their home town paper. And the home paper does all these things—Likes to do them.

"This being so, it is only human that the owners of and those who are employed at the local newspaper offices should expect all these various interests would return the compliment through giving printing orders. If all the requirements of Chilliwaek were to be printed in Chilliwaek, the Progress would have to increase its staff."

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. L. Strange)
Director, "Crop Testing Plan"

Fall frosts are taking our Marquis. We need an earlier variety!

This was the cry heard by Canadian plant breeders as the Western wheat acreage expanded to the north immediately after the War.

The very same appeal, it will be remembered, had been made by Western farmers in 1890, when wheat acreage began to expand north and west from the Portage Plains, and when Red Fife was being taken by the frosts.

Charles Saunders in 1904 selected and tested the crosses that had previously been made by his brother Percy. Out of this work came Marquis, a variety earlier than Red Fife.

Similarly, Dr. L. H. Newman—who succeeded Sir Charles in 1923 as Dominion Cerealist—in turn tested the crosses that had previously been made by Charles Saunders. Out of this material Dr. Newman selected two varieties earlier than Marquis—Garnet and Reward.

Dr. Sanger Wheeler, of Rosetown, Sask., as well, selected an earlier variety, Red Bobs.

Thus it will be seen how the needs of agriculture, as expressed by practical farmers, prompt plant breeders to produce more suitable varieties, which in turn tend to increase the farmers' income.

Garnet, Reward and Red Bobs, will be discussed in future articles.

Following factors have tended to raise wheat prices: Advances indicate Germany concerned about securing sufficient supplies of wheat and rye.—Continental Europe purchases Canadian rye.—Spring rains still awaited in India.—Cattle slaughter in Uruguay for 1936 will be smaller than for 1935. Uruguay supplies about half the canned beef imported into the United States.

Following factors have tended to lower prices: Very heavy wheat shipments from Argentina.—Wheat stocks on sea passage largest since March 1933.—Surplus of Argentine oats for export expected to be 27 million bushels.—Production of soy beans, peanuts cottonseed and sesamum in China and Manchuria materially above that of 1935.

Rumored Hon. W. A. Fallow Will Resign

It is reported now that Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works in the Alberta Cabinet will resign within the next few days. If this is the case it will be the third resignation within two months, and other resignations are also rumored, including that of Hon. J. W. Hugill, Attorney-General. No reasons have been advanced as yet for the resignation of Hon. Fallow. He took the lead in the issuance of the scrip, and it was his statement that there would be no unemployment in the Province after July 1st of last year, when the public works program

No one likes to judge or criticize, but there must be some strong feelings and decided differences of opinions when men will pass up positions of $7,000 yearly in these times. It was reported that C. C. Ross resigned because he felt that the Premier was interfering too much with his department. The Premier argued that as Premier he was only doing his duty. Chas. Cockroft resigned because of ill health, and the papers state that a split between the Premier and Hon. Fallow is the cause of his resignation.

LET'S POPULARIZE INDEPENDENCE!

One thing Western Canada, in common with the rest of the world needs badly is a revival of the old spirit of 20 years ago when people took a great deal of pride in being independent and self-sustaining. The cancer of public relief and charity is eating its way into the minds of the people, until we are accepting it as a necessary evil of the time and living like leeches off the toil and efforts of our next door neighbors.

As a body politic we should consider it our duty individually and collectively to popularize and applaud independence and self-sufficiency. The great west was conquered by backbone, not by wishbone. Our fathers and grand-fathers prepared in the time of plenty for the day of need. When operations were needed they paid their own bills; when coal was needed they bought their own coal or went without. The Government was not expected to help them. This built character and solidity.

We appreciate the fact that misfortunes and unexpected exigencies arise where no amount of planning could handle the situation. This, however, does not justify dozens of families living month after month on relief without an effort to get on their own, and complaining all the time because the fare wasn't what they liked and because officials didn't fill their order without question.

What's wrong with us?

FINE SERVICES OF THOS. O. KING

T. O. King of Raymond, hasn't any apology to give his fellow citizens for neglect to devote his time to public service. He has just retired as president of the Alberta School Trustees' Association after thirteen straight years of intelligent, helpful leadership. What would Alberta be without public-spirited men like T. O. King? Here is a busy man, who finds the time to give supervision to the affairs of the people and nothing in any community is more important than the school. Some ratepayers are ungrateful, they are inclined too much to abuse the people who serve them. They forget that there is no financial recompense, that our councillors and trustees, mayors and Reeves sacrifice much time from their own personal affairs to give the community a life. T. O. King has been such a man and Raymond has benefited from having him one of its wide-awake citizens, and the Alberta School Trustees' Association has benefited from having had his advice and leadership since taking over the presidency in 1923. Men like Mr. King mean a lot to an Alberta community. — Lethbridge Herald.

Because we can say Amen to every sentiment expressed in the above article, and too, because T. O. served 22 years on the local School Board, besides holding many other public positions in those years, makes us doubly happy to copy the tribute paid to our fellow townsman and community builder.

A closed mouth keeps out trouble.

"Just Average Folks"

There are no mysterious "fifty big shots" crushing the debtors of Alberta.

The bond and mortgage holders of this Province are just average folks—just such neighbourly people as you deal with every day—people who have hoed their row successfully, put by a little savings from year to year and tried to invest these savings securely, thus creating nest eggs for their old age.

The $382,000,000 invested by life insurance companies in city and farm mortgages in Canada are the savings of 3,500,000 policyholders. In the same way, other hundreds of millions held in mortgages by loaning companies are the savings of scores of thousands of shareholders and debenture holders—$70,000,000 of mortgage holdings of one such company alone representing the savings of between fifty and sixty thousand persons of average means.

In Canada, it is the people of such average means who provide the funds which are invested in bonds and mortgages in Alberta and other provinces.

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The seventh statement in this series will be published in two weeks)

WEEKLIES TO THE RESCUE

By B. T. R.

Edmonton, Feb. 8.—Premier William Aberhart's threat to license the newspapers, which has been hanging over the heads of the weekly, and daily press of Alberta for about six months, has now passed.

Final blow to the proposal came at the provincial Social Credit convention recently, when a resolution calling for enforcement of licensing "in order to encourage accurate and unbiased reports of government activities" was tabled, "the table" in this case a euphemism for the waste basket.

The recent caucus of Social Credit private members, it is known, also refused to approve press licensing.

One report indicates that press licensing was defeated in the of several editors of weekly Social Credit convention because newspapers who were present as delegates. The weekly newspapers it should be recorded, have proven one of the main bulwarks in Alberta against the growing threats to democratic liberties which have marked the continuance of the Aberhart regime.

Powers of the courts have been seriously curbed in Social Credit enactments, with the result that the attempt to create a new social order, in so far as such attempt exists in the Alberta Credit House act and kindred Aberhart legislation, has been accompanied with the denial of recourse to the courts. For instance, the citizen is denied access to court redress should he suffer damage thru circulation of Alberta credit.

Further, members of the Government have been placed largely above the law, by means of legislation requiring permission of the cabinet to sue a minister.

Most notable attempt to bind the private life of the individual to government policy was by means of the Aberhart covenants. These covenants exacted an undemocratic pledge of support for the existing government. There was only the persuasion of the Government, not its powers of force, behind the campaign to sign up the covenants. Thousands of citizens signed, even in circles given more or less to intellection. The Alberta intelligentsia may be discredited as a bulwark against Fascism.

Another Aberhart policy containing a serious threat to individual liberty is that which pursues the objective of an autarchic economy, a self-sufficient Alberta. Little of a tangible nature has been done in this direction yet, but such policy implies the surrender of individual liberty to conduct private business as one sees fit. This policy is embodied in the recent proposal for export and import boards, controlled by the Government.

Amid these numerous, serious perils to democratic liberties, the voices of the weekly newspapers in Alberta have been for the most part, unafraid and critical. So have the voices of the urban Protestant churches. Taken together, they represent two of the main instruments of protest against Fascist encroachments which necessity has brought to the front in Alberta. The menace to the liberty of the press has subsided, for the time being at least, but equal perils remain to confront him who cares to fight for liberty. — From the Editorial page of the Winnipeg Free Press, Jan. 26, 1937.

FARMER'S ATTENTION!

As the Dominion Government is paying the freight, within certain limitations, on shipments of registered and certified seed grain made before March 15, it is essential that farmers taking advantage of this, make their arrangements to procure registered seed immediately, if they wish to save the freight charges. For the last five years on account of the low grain prices, many farmers gave less attention than they did previously to procuring seed of high quality. Consequently, there is a need for purer seed on many farms this season and on account of grain prices being much higher it is expected that there will be much more registered seed purchased.

Naturally it is the aim of all farmers to obtain the maximum yields from the different crops grown, but some attention must also be given to such factors as quality of the product, strength of straw, time of maturity, etc.

During the last decade many new varieties of cereals have originated. From results obtained at the Lethbridge Station, Marquis still appears to be the best variety of wheat for all of Southern Alberta excepting where an earlier variety is required. Banner and Victory appear to be the two best varieties of oats, and Trebi and Hanches the two best varieties of barley for feed purposes.

W. D. HAY,
Assistant Superintendent

WARBLE FLY CONTROL

Warble fly control measures were first instituted at the Lethbridge Station during the winter of 1932-33. At that time practically every individual in the dairy herd was to a greater or less extent infested with warble fly larvae, and in order to get a complete kill of all larvae it was necessary to treat the whole herd four times at intervals of three to four weeks beginning late in January. As a result of this thorough treatment is the winter of 1932-33 the infestation the following year was much less severe and in that year, and each year following, the number of cows treated and the number of treatments necessary per cow has gradually decreased until this year it appears that only a very limited number of cows will require any treatment at all.

In order to understand the control measures it is necessary to know the life cycle of the warble fly. The mature fly deposits her eggs on the legs and flanks of the cattle during the summer months. The eggs hatch and the young larvae pierce the skin and migrate to the region of the gullet and later on make a second migration to the back. Here cysts form in which the larvae undergo development and at this time bore holes through the hide in order to get air and later emerge. Then development in the cyst is completed the larvae emerge and drop to the ground where they pupate and later appear as adult flies.

No satisfactory methods have been found for preventing the adult fly from depositing her eggs, but effective measures can be taken to destroy the larvae while they are in the backs of the cattle. The active ingredient in the preparation used for destroying the larvae is Derris powder. This is mixed with soap and other materials to form a powder which when mixed with water at the rate of one pound to a gallon of water, forms the solution used for treating the cattle. This is supplied to the backs of the cattle with a stiff brush, when a large number of cysts containing the larvae show openings through the hide. Only those larvae which are about ready to emerge are killed by the treatment and consequently since all the larvae do not emerge at the same time it is usually necessary to apply several treatments at intervals of about four weeks.

The time usually recommended for making the first application is about the first week in March but our experience would indicate that if a severe infestation is present this would be too late under conditions similar to those at the Experimental Station. Our recommendation to prospective users of control measure would be to examine the cattle during the latter part of January and at regular intervals of about a week thereafter and make the first application when a large number of cysts are open.

The extent of the loss caused by warble fly larvae is not generally realized by farmers, but there is ample evidence to show that this loss runs into millions of dollars annually in reduced milk flow, damaged hides and spoiled sections of beef carcasses. Our recommendation would be for all cattle owners to use control measures for this pest. The treatment is simple, effective and inexpensive and the warble fly powder, manufactured by any reliable firm will give good results.

OW AND TWO YEARS OF WHEAT

The relative merits of growing wheat on summer-fallow only, or growing two crops of wheat in succession after fallowing is still a controversial question among farmers. The tendency of the more careful operators, however, is toward the growing of but one crop of wheat after fallow.

These two systems have been tested at the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge for 25 years and the average net returns for the two types have been about equal for that period. The average for the last 5 years, which have been drier than normal, has been in favor of seeding on fallow only, however, as the net return during this dry period has been 1.83 more per year for each acre farmed where fallow and wheat were alternated than has been secured from two years of the wheat. This substantiates the contention made by many farmers that seeding on summer-fallow is an insurance against disastrously low yields in dry years. The weed problem becomes more difficult each year and the summer-fallow is decidedly helpful in controlling many kinds of weeds. This is another reason why the two year cropping system of wheat and fallow is growing in favor.

An argument in favor of two years of wheat succeeding a fallow is that less of the land is in fallow and so a smaller portion of the field is in danger of soil drifting. As effective drifting control measures are employed this feature becomes less important.

At the present time the results of the work at the station supports the contention of many successful farmers that alternating summer - fallow and wheat is a safer practice than to grow two years of wheat between fallows.

NEWS NOTES

Telephone repair men who came out from Lethbridge Wednesday stated they were three hours driving over.

The little girl of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Heggie was operated on for Mastoids Wednesday afternoon, the mastoids being an after effect of measles.

The snow has melted enough now that wagons are appearing again on the roads, as bare spots are noticeable on nearly all roads that are not completely drifted over.

A. W. Kirkham is in receipt of a letter from relatives in Utah, containing flood news from James M. Kirkham, President of the Southern States Mission in Louisville. When the water was 56 and 57 feet high in the Ohio river it was 40 feet above the usual level, and 22 feet above the flood level. If you can imagine a river more than a mile wide, and running about 8 to 10 miles an hour, you can get some idea of the tremendous wall of water that Louisville had descending on it.

PUBLIC OPINION

was well expressed by the late Arthur Brisbane, the dean of American Editors, who wrote recently: "The woman who does not want children should not have any children." He said this in discoursing upon the birth of unwanted children and their happiness in life—and also discussed the matter of family limitations in general. Dr. Eva Fay, the famous gynecologist, fully approves the above statement—in fact she is famous for her squabbles with the profession for her advocacy of birth control.

Dr. Fay's Compound has been a household preparation for many years, especially in the homes of educated women, who have investigated and found that a life free from constant worry and fear is the one that retains the youthful beauty of that lovely, girlish figure and that inimitable sparkle in the woman's eyes men love so much. After all, one is entitled to live one's own life and to a woman, good looks mean everything. ### IS SCOUTING WORTH IT?

Elders Don. H. Wall and Lyman H. Jacobs were speakers in the 2nd Ward Sacrament meeting Sunday evening last.

A blinding blizzard in Japan was believed to have killed 132 persons and injured many others on Sunday. The worst storm in 15 years it was stated.

Chas. O. Asplund, was elected President of the Cardston Board of Trade at the regular meeting of that organization recently.

We had a light skiff of snow Sunday morning, and in the evening the west wind came up pretty strong and drifted all of it that it could lift.

Cardston received its first mail last Tuesday morning in eight days. The plane from Lethbridge started to fly there last Saturday but cracked up trying to take off and damaged the propeller, one wing and the landing gear.

After being without a mail from Wednesday, the freight arrived in the middle of the afternoon Saturday, and brought in a heavy mail for local business houses. We are getting now so that we look for the mail when it comes and not until then.

In thousands of Canadian communities busy business and professional men give of their valuable time to serve on Boy Scout committees. Other men spend many hours planning programs and in other ways investing their time in a group of boys, as Scoutmasters.

Thousands of dollars are spent on summer camps. More thousands are spent on uniforms and to maintain district directors and their offices.

What does scouting do for the boys to justify this expenditure of time, energy and money?

In the first place it gives the boy a better realization of the importance of certain fundamental ideals about life and his responsibility.

Second, it gives him some very useful camping, first-aid and swimming instruction along with much other practical knowledge. Coming the way it does—outside the usual channels of church, school and home, it is sometimes more thoroughly assimilated.

Third, it teaches him to be companionable, to give and take, to appreciate his homeland and reverse his God.

Besides this, either because Scouting appeals to that sort of boy or does something extra for boys, surveys have shown that they average higher in their school standing. Moreover, you would search court records hard and long to find one who had been before a judge for a misdemeanor who had had as much as three years training.

But best of all, a canvass of men who are doing things for their communities as well as making good themselves, reveals that an exceptionally large proportion of those under forty have had some scout training as boys or have been helping in the movement.
